

ABSTRACT

An system and method for online human resource outsourcing is provided via online and through portal access such as obtained when utilizing wireless applications.